Read these three teenagers' opinions about environmental problems.

- 5 Amir  I am an environmentalist. It runs in the family. My parents have always taken me to environmental campaigns. My older brother has always worried about environmental problems, too. In my free time, I enjoy reading magazines about wildlife and strange animals. I just love learning about them while they are still around. But what I really worry about is water. I live in a country where freshwater cannot be found easily. I really want to do something about it!
- 10 Betty  We are losing biodiversity so quickly. It's what worries me the most. Did you know that 571 species of plants have disappeared since 1750? As for animals, nobody really knows how many have become extinct so far, but I'm quite sure that humans are the main cause of this catastrophe. After all, our modern lifestyle has definitely contributed to environmental problems, like global warming.
- 15 Chris  In the city where I live, we are facing many environmental problems. At home, my parents are always talking about how waste is affecting our quality of life. To tell you the truth, I'm more worried about air pollution and its consequences. It's almost impossible to cycle in some parts of the city without wearing a mask. If you talk to my sister, she will say I'm overreacting and that water will soon become the main issue.

5. There are 5 environmental clubs at their school. Amir, Betty and Chris can only choose one. Which club (from A to E) is the most suitable for each?

Write the letter of the club in the circles.

6. Who says what? Write the letters A (Amir), B (Betty) and C (Chris) in each circle.

Who

- a) talks about someone who thinks water will become a problem? ☐
- b) likes learning about animals? ☐

Read the following text.

All the difference in the world

Line		Paragraph
	Every Sunday morning, I go jogging around Turtle Lake at the park. Each time I go there, I see the same old woman sitting by the water with a small metal cage* beside her. It's too small for a dog or even a cat. What has she got in there?	1
5	Last Sunday, as I passed her again, I stopped jogging and walked over to her in order to satisfy my curiosity. I then understood that the metal cage was in fact a small trap. There were three turtles, slowly walking around. She had a fourth turtle in her hand and she was carefully cleaning it.	2
10	"Hello," I said. "I see you here every Sunday morning. I'd love to know what you're doing." She smiled. "I always clean these turtles' shells on Sundays. Dirt on their shells makes keeping warm and swimming in the lake difficult for them. It also makes the shell weak over time."	3
15	She went on, "I spend a couple of hours by this lake helping these little guys you see in the cage. It's my own strange way of making a difference." " But don't most freshwater turtles spend their whole lives with dirt hanging from their shells?" I asked. "Yes, sadly, they do," she replied.	4
20	I hesitated. "Well, don't you think you're wasting your time? I mean, there are freshwater turtles living in the wild all around the world. And 99% of these turtles don't have kind people like you to help them. So, how exactly are you really making a difference?" The woman laughed. She looked down at the turtle in her hand, cleaned the last piece of dirt and said, "Sweetie, if this little guy could talk, he'd tell you I make all the difference in the world."	5
